

GUARD DEMANDS MORE RECRUITS

Only 20 Enlist in One Day and House Canvass Will Be Renewed.

There's a song called "Wake Up, America." Somebody ought to write one called "Wake Up, Washington," said Col. Clarence V. Sayer last night. The remark followed the totaling of the day's recruiting at 1225 Pennsylvania avenue. Despite the house to house canvass the records at 10 o'clock last night showed only twenty enlistments. It was admitted that, at this rate, it will be practically impossible for the militia to reach war strength by the time orders come to entrain.

To rouse the citizenry to this need, The Washington Herald and other newspapers have thrown open their advertising columns to the National Guard. A large display "ad." pleading for enlistments, appears on another page of this paper. In addition the house to house canvass will be continued today.

"The chief trouble, I believe," said Col. Sayer, "is that the men are holding back waiting for an actual declaration of war. We've simply got to have more men—and we have only a little time left in which to get them."

Previous statistics as to the strength of the District forces have been upset by physical examinations. The new recruits are "getting by" in first-class shape, for before being accepted by the National Guard they are examined just as thoroughly as by the regular army officers. This is not the case with the old members of the guard, all of whom must be examined physically by the United States authorities.

MEXICANS SLAY MORE AMERICANS

William Parker And Wife Victims of Bandit Raid Near Hachita, N. Mex.

(By the Sun News Service.) El Paso, Tex., June 27.—A raid into American soil and an attempted American raid on Mexican soil featured the border excitement west of El Paso today. The Mexican raid into American territory occurred near Hachita, N. Mex. some time last night, when Will Parker, owner of a ranch thirty-five miles southwest of Hachita, and his wife were murdered, according to information received here this afternoon by relatives. The bodies of both were found by ranch hands this morning in the house on the ranch.

American cavalry has started in pursuit of the murderers of the Parker couple, and if necessary the pursuers will make the border after dark tonight. The murder of the Parkers followed the killing of twenty-five horses, which military officials believe will assist them in finding the trail. Parker's ranch was visited several days ago by Mexican bandits and a number of horses and cattle ran off.

A troop of cavalry followed their trail at the time, but did not cross the border. The attempted American raid into Mexico was frustrated on the Arizona border shortly after dark last night, when a heavily armed filibustering expedition, organized to cross the line at Sasabe, sixty miles west of Nogales, and bring back an automobile seized by the Mexican authorities. Two requirements are necessary for qualification for such a detail—familiarity with horses and ability to speak Spanish. The latter, while desirable, can be dispensed with, but the former is absolutely essential.

There is an especial need for men for the headquarters company. These men will be mounted, and will serve as orderlies to the staff officers. MEXICANS PROMISE TO TREAT PRISONERS WELL

Gen. Trevino Sends Message to News Service Guaranteeing Civilized Treatment.

(By the International News Service.) El Paso, Tex., June 27.—Gen. Jacinto B. Trevino, the Mexican commander of Chihuahua, in a personal telegram to the International News Service, today, guaranteed civilized treatment for the American prisoners taken in the Carrizal fight.

The message was in reply to a communication sent to the Carranza commander on Sunday night after the report that he intended to execute the Americans.

The answer follows: "Chihuahua, Mexico, June 27, 1916. "El Paso Bureau, International News Service.

"With pain I have taken notice of the news published that the American prisoners, taken at Carrizal will be executed. We know perfectly the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, signed in the year, 1848, in which, among other things, is stipulated the treatment that should be accorded prisoners of war. Therefore, you may be assured that we know how to respect the laws and treaties, and if any should fail in their compliance it will not be ourselves. You may make this public in any way you desire.

(Signed) "J. B. TREVINO, "General in Chief."

DEADLY GAS IN BOMBS MADE AT U. S. ARSENAL

Philadelphia, June 27.—Hand grenades and several types of bombs, including one containing a combination of deadly gases, are being made at the Frankford Arsenal for the army. Col. George Montgomery has admitted that the past the experimental stage and that quantities of the explosives will be turned out shortly.

The gas bomb is said to contain sulphur dioxide among other gases. The invention is an aerial bomb of high degree that instead of being dependent upon atmospheric pressure for exploding, is regulated by a clocklike timing device.

Appropriation Acts Extended. Indications are that owing to the present state of business in Congress, eight of the regular appropriation bills will fail to become law by July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year. Accordingly, a resolution was introduced yesterday by Representative Fitzgerald of the House Appropriations Committee, extending the appropriating acts of the current year through the month of July. The resolution probably will be passed tomorrow. The bills that are expected to be held until after July 1 are: Agriculture, Army, District of Columbia, Military Academy, Navy, Pension, Postoffice and Sundry Civil.

How the United States went to war with Mexico in 1846: Outrages along the border and on the property of Americans in Mexico stirred both countries. The announcement was made by Mr. Hughes at the Hotel Astor after he had held a conference with members of the so-called "steering committee" of the Republican convention.

Those who conferred with Mr. Hughes were W. Murray Crane, of Massachusetts; Ralph E. Williams, of Oregon; Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania; Alva H. Martin, of Virginia; Charles B. Warren, of Michigan; Reed Smoot, of Utah; James A. Hemenway, of Indiana, and John G. Adams, of Iowa.

Mr. Hughes declined to discuss the appointment, but intimated that the selection of Mr. Willcox as national chairman was a personal one, and due to his confidence in the new chairman.

MORE MEXICAN TROOPS AT NAGO

Davis, Commanding at Douglas, Says Situation There Looks Threatening.

(By the International News Service.) San Antonio, Tex., June 27.—More Mexican soldiers are being massed at Naco, Sonora, with indications that aggression against the American border is contemplated. Gen. Davis, in command at Douglas, reported tonight to Gen. Funston that the situation there looked threatening.

At Cananea the Mexicans are concentrating a considerable force, which has assumed proportions much larger than the American military authorities expected. Latest information is that there are already 6,000 soldiers at this camp, and more coming daily.

At headquarters here the Cananea and Naco situation is being watched closely. In the expectation that de facto troops may cross the international line and make a deliberate attack. This morning Gen. Funston stated that the Twenty-second Infantry had been sent from Douglas to El Paso, to guard the mining population and big copper mine properties of that place.

Apparently the Mexicans planned an attack on El Paso, but preparedness has caused them to abandon it. Gen. Funston has but a brief report on the raid at the Parker ranch, below Hachita, N. Mex. According to his information, it is not yet known positively that the raiders came from across the international line.

HAPGOOD SHOCKS PARTY LEADERS

Speaking for Brandeis, He Frankly Compares Wilson and Hughes.

Official Washington was shocked last night when the "Woodrow Wilson Independent League," a political organization, gave out a statement, apparently inspired by Associate Justice Brandeis, of the Supreme Court, in which Mr. Brandeis' views on public question were presented by Norman Hapgood, an officer of the league.

The statement sets forth that no significance should be attached to the call of Brandeis on Charles E. Hughes the day Hughes was nominated. Hapgood states that "Mr. Justice Brandeis looks upon Mr. Hughes as a most sincere and excellent man, but in no sense progressive." On the other hand, according to Hapgood, "Justice Brandeis thinks that the President has raised and clarified the whole tone of public life." The explanation is then made that as a new member of the Supreme Court, it was the duty of Brandeis to call on the other justices immediately following his confirmation, and that the day he made his "duty call" on Hughes he likewise paid his respects to the others.

Hapgood says that Brandeis did not know Hughes had resigned from the bench until he learned the fact from Hughes' lips.

Mr. Hapgood's statement, which is accepted as a direct expression from Justice Brandeis, has excited comment in view of the frank way in which public questions are discussed, and comparisons made between the President and Hughes.

Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employees, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employees for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion, and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railroads be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:

1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved; or
2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employees are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence.

The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board.

Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employees as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employees, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employees, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employees, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.
